BLACKHAND GANGS RESUME OUTRAGES

Make Attempts to Wreck
Three Houses in New York.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Black hand gangs, early today resumed the reign of terror with torch and bomb which has defied the efforts of the police for more than a week, and made three daring efforts to wreck houses with dynamite.

Two black handers drove up in front of the house of Dr. Bartoli, a wealthy physician, on East 106th street, laid a bomb near the doctor's door and fled in a carriage.

The explosion caused a panic among a hundred girls in St. Cecilia's convent.

Two Of the Latest Parisian Ideas

Two views of the latest creation in dress wear for women worn by a Parisian actress. On the left is a front view of the new pantaloon skirt and on the right is a side view. It is predicted by the most prominent Parisian and New York modistes that the immensely popular hobble skirt, which has only existed a short time, will have to give way to the new pantaloon effect. The divided skirt, which resembles a man's trousers made two or three times too wide for him, is so arranged that it gives freedom of motion and at the same time protects from the cold.

The doctor had been receiving black hand letters for some time.

The vigil of Giovanni Cataldo, a grocerman on Christie street, which has lasted a week, was rewarded early this morning when Cataldo, sitting in his darkened store, saw two men creep up and start to light a bomb. He blazed away with a revolver and the black handers fled. No arrests were made.

Last night a bomb was exploded on the roof of a six story tenement on the lower East Side. One apartment was wrecked.

When her child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. No great act of heroism or risk of life is necessary to protect a child from a bomb. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and all danger is avoided. For sale by all dealers.

AMUSEMENTS IN CALIFORNIA.

Frank Rich has returned from southern California, where he has been spending the past month looking after the interests of the Frank Rich Musical Comedy company. He says his show is doing a fine business at Long Beach and he expects to keep it there throughout the summer. He finds the show business splendid in all the towns surrounding Los Angeles, and in Los Angeles. It rained almost every day he was there, he says, but the people went to the shows anyhow.

OLE OLSEN HERE.

"Ole Olsen"—everybody knows "Ole"—paid a visit to El Paso at the El Paso theater last night; he will also be here again tonight. The audience did not pack the house, but there were quite a few people present, and they seemed to think they had got their dollar's worth, judging from applause. Besides the play, the company gives a number of specialties. There was much applause at the quaint sayings, the green ways and the funny antics of the newly arrived Swede—and just as much applause for the hair-raising heroism of the young star with the "aye-bane, one-Swede" accent.

Man Sold When a Babe; Is Wedded To a Southern Belle Big Estate Being Contested Because His Aunt Did Not Approve.

MAON, Ga., Feb. 18.—That a prominent man of this city was once sold when a baby, was brought out in a trial in this city, Henry James Lamar Washington, when a baby, was sold for $10,000. His wife is a former society belle, Mrs. Lucille Osborne.

Executors of the estate of the late H. J. Lamar, of Macon, are defending a suit of Washington, filed in this city, for an eighth interest in $500,000, on the ground that when Washington married Lucille Graves Osborne, of New York, several years ago, he did not obtain the necessary consent stipulated in the Lamar will.

Lamar Washington, when a youth, it was revealed in the suit, was adopted by his uncle, the late H. J. Lamar, who, in consideration of the lad's transfer, paid $10,000 to Lamar's father, Col. W. H. Washington, of Nashville, Tenn.

By his uncle's will, Lamar Washington was to receive an eighth interest in $500,000 if he married with the approval of his aunt. His marriage to Miss Osborne, the executor of the will, was contrary to his aunt's wishes.

MAY NOT HAVE EXAMINING TRIAL

Formal Murder Charge Is Made Against Man Held
For Graham's Death.

J. W. Olson, charged with murder in connection with the death of C. E. Graham, has been transferred to the county jail from the police station. An information charging him with murder has been filed in justice E. B. McClintock's court, but the advisability of submitting the evidence direct to the grand jury, and dispensing with the examining trial, is being considered by state officials. By this procedure neither Olson nor his attorney would be able to obtain a line on the evidence secured until the trial in district court.

Although a warrant has been filed against John Mitchell, alias Estroud, charging him with being an accessory after the fact, also in connection with Graham's death, he is still held at the police station.

This is due, it is said, to the desire of the officers to keep the men from communicating with each other.

Jack Squires, a local saloon man, who offered a $250 reward for the apprehension and identification of the murderers of Graham, has stated that he is ready to pay half the reward, and believes that deputy sheriff Murphy of Alamogordo, N. M., who arrested Olson, and D. E. McKail, the street car conductor who identified him, should share in the money.

The application of Mrs. Ruth Graham, widow of the murdered man, asking to be appointed administratrix of his estate, has been filed in probate court.

AMUSEMENTS.

"STRONGHEART" STRONG SHOW.
"Strongheart," a play with an Indian hero and a college setting, won the audience which comfortably filled the Crawford theater Sunday night.

Glimor Brown, in the same part, portrayed the character exceedingly well, and looked every inch an Indian. His description of the last half of the football game in the second act was a strong piece of monologue. Each play was minutely described and he showed the enthusiasm of the football player interested in the victory of his team.

Throughout the play he proved his ability as an actor of a most difficult part and his stoicism, common to the redskin, won the hearty applause of the audience.

Mary Sullivan played a strong lead in the character of Dorothy Nelson, and her acting, particularly in the parting scene in the last act, when she had Strongheart return to his people at cost of losing her, was particularly effective.

Bryce Desmond, in the character of Thorne, the traitor, who sold his team's signals, was every inch a villain and readily won the hisses of the audience, which is the best recommendation a villain can have.

Billy Saunders, portrayed by Birch De Laune, was a college character full of life and interest from the first act to the final curtain, while all the other characters were well cast.

The stage settings were novel and pleasing, particularly the dressing room of the football team in the second act. El Paso high school boys as the football team lent added interest to the
